

Everyday Problems

Everyday problems of finance—large or small—are the portion of everyone. Opportunities for investment—some good, some bad—are offered every day; means of financing personal ventures must be considered and all of them ought to be submitted to your banker for advice.

We are in business to help our depositors and clients to solve their problems. It's the reason our officers are not kept behind closed doors; it's the reason they have comfortable visitors' chairs at their elbows. Drop in to see us any time.

WIFE SAVERS

WASHING WOOLENS

All water should be of the same temperature—about 110 degrees Fahrenheit.

All rubbing or twisting should be eliminated. Only mild soaps (containing no alkali) should be used.

Soaps should be used in solution to prevent rubbing.

Borax and ammonia may be used to soften the water, as they are too mild to injure wools.

Cottons embroidered in wool will have to be washed as woolens. Dry wool garments in a moderate temperature—not in the sun—and do not allow them to freeze. Sun burns the white wool; freezing causes shrinkage. Woolen garments should be stretched and shaped.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Tomato Jelly Salad—One-half teaspoon gelatine, two teaspoons cold water, one-third cup tomatoes, one clove, few grains salt, bit of bay leaf, sprig of parsley, one-sixth slice of onion, one-eighth teaspoon vinegar or lemon juice. Directions: Cook tomatoes with clove, bay leaf, parsley and onion eight minutes. Remove vegetables and force tomato through a sieve; there should be one-quarter cupful. Add gelatin which has been softened in cold water, and, when dissolved, the salt and vinegar. Line a mold with a slice of egg and pour in mixture. Chill, remove from mold and arrange on lettuce leaf. Garnish with mayonnaise dressing.

Cake Bars—One egg-white, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-quarter cup sugar, one cup corn-flakes, one-quarter cup chopped candied cherries, one-quarter cup chopped nuts, two tablespoons shredded cocoanut, one-quarter teaspoon lemon extract. Beat the egg-white and salt until very stiff. Add sugar gradually, beating it in with the beater. Fold in the corn-flakes, mixed with the nuts, cherries and cocoanut and the extract. Divide into twelve portions and with wet fingers shape into bars. Bake on a well greased tin in a moderate oven (350 to 400 degrees Fahrenheit) for ten minutes.

Meat Loaf—One pound beefsteak, one pound ham, salt and pepper, two eggs, one-half pound bread crumbs without crust. Mince raw meat, mix with hands, add bread and seasoning, mix again, then add eggs, mix well with the hands, press into basin and steam four hours or bake about two hours in moderate oven.

Custard Pie—Line a deep plate with a high rim. Heat one pint of milk, rub one teaspoon flour smooth with one-half cup cold milk, add to the boiling milk and cook five minutes. Pour upon three beaten eggs one-half flavor to taste with one-half teaspoon lemon or one teaspoon vanilla. Bake slowly, never boiling it. It is done when a knife blade makes a clean cut.

SPOTLIGHTS ON SPORT

by JACK KEENE

Charles Jewtraw, international speed skating champion, has announced that he is through with racing after devoting 10 years to the sport. He intends to center his efforts in acquiring an education at Harvard for the next few years. He makes his decision following a brilliant victory in the Olympic winter games over the fastest skaters Finland, Norway and other European countries could produce.

Jewtraw chooses to retire at the zenith of his career. He has few more worlds to conquer on skates. He has given his best to the game. Constant training for the vigorous sport eventually might tell on his health. He will be missed, however, when the skating stars line up next season if he sticks to his decision.

We were interrupted for a minute by an old friend who asked the loan of a hundred thousand. Happened to have the change.

Gene Sarazen has defended successfully his title of "unofficial golf champion of the world." Last season Gene met Walter Hagen in a match for the unofficial title and defeated the man who came within one stroke of winning the British open title. A few days ago Gene took on Arthur Havers, the British star who won that open championship, in an unofficial match on a southern course, and defeated the foreign invader.

It's up to a modest little woman in Finland whether or not America sees Thunberg, Finnish skating marvel and outstanding star of the Olympic skating events at Chamonix. The International Skating union has extended a cordial invitation to Thunberg to come to the United States and compete in the national championships in this country next month. Thunberg is willing to come but has placed the decision in the hands of his wife. "If she is willing that I should make the trip I will be glad to meet America's skaters on their own ice," he told the committee.

Which is a pretty compliment to Mrs. Thunberg.

FAME FROM DIAMOND

The state of Arkansas, and Ouachita college in particular, is justly proud of Travis Jackson, brilliant young shortstop of the Giants. Until Jackson joined the Giants it is doubtful whether more than a handful of people in the United States ever heard of Ouachita, but now the little institution of learning is in a fair way to become famous through the association of its name with Jackson's. Erasmus Hall high school in Brooklyn, for instance, in spite of its undoubted worth and the esteem in which it is held in Brooklyn, never received proper advertising until it became known that Walter Hoyt had studied in its classic halls before McGraw grabbed him off.

The Chicago White Sox may have an admiral as well as a captain when the team takes the field next season. For a husky, earnest youth by the name of Admiral Martin is marking time up in Quebec for the day when he sets sail for the Sox training camp at Winter Haven, Fla. He aims to bomb Herve McClellan out of his job at short. If the Admiral shows that he can find the range with his trusty bat he may grab Herve's job, as that gentleman can't hit the size of milady's glove.

Why does a ball bounce?

—because, when it strikes, it is knocked slightly out of shape. But, being elastic, it springs back to shape, and this reaction makes it rebound. The use of
